August 8, 2020 Tattgoddess Jessica Wilde Nude F. Tattgoddess Jessica Wilde Nude Full VersiongolkesQ: Grails project showing old version of spring security I have created a grails project using latest version of grails 1.3.7 and spring security plugin 2.0.5 version 1.3.7, spring security plugin 2.0.5 My project runs fine in Tomcat and on our dev server, but on our production machine (with grails 1.3.6) the project uses an old version of spring security plugin (2.0.0) I have added the spring security plugin code to my build.groy file and manually removed and regenerated the plugin. I have also tried moving the folder containing the spring security plugin but to no avail I can only assume the production server has an older version of grails plugin. Any ideas on how to resolve this issue? A: This is the only way I found that worked for me. I updated the dependencies for grails and spring security plugin in BuildConfig.groovy. I did this by updating the versions (i.e. 2.0.0 -> 2.0.6) in my BuildConfig.groovy and created a new BuildConfig.groovy in my project source folder. This is the link to the BuildConfig.groovy for Spring Security 2.0.6 This is the BuildConfig.groovy for Grails 1.3.6 This is the link to the BuildConfig.groovy for Grails 1.3.7 This is the BuildConfig.groovy for Grails 1.3.9 I'm not 100% sure what will happen if you upgrade the version to 1.3.9 or greater (since 1.3.9 requires grails 2.2.2 which I'm not sure is available for 1.3.6) EDIT: Also for other people encountering this problem with Grails 2.2.2 and Spring Security 2.
