Rainmeter is a great host for customizing virtually any aspect of a Windows 7 PC. In this regard, MagazinelikeSUITE allows desktop background, screen savers, lock screen, theme, and weather information to be customized. The skin manager can be accessed via Rainmeter, the default element of which is a color changing meter. This can be used to display current date, time, system status, time spent online, energy usage, weather forecast, battery status, and a customizable pattern. This includes changing the background to a certain color, or displaying a weather forecast, battery charge, or even the weather itself. Within the skin manager, the entry with the name

MagazinelikeSUITE allows for custom changes to be made. This includes color customization, icon insertion, and button layout. For each of these, options are available for every element included in the skin. Default settings can be modified through the configuration file, but Rainmeter can also be disabled. In this way, system status and battery data will be shown in Rainmeter, but cannot be customized. Weather information is provided through three parts. The first is the description, which can be modified through the configuration file. The second part is the data, which is accessible via the weather tab. It shows details such as temperature, precipitation, location, and wind direction. Again, these can be customized. The third, and final, part is the map, which can be configured. Available for download, it shows a world map, with corresponding weather forecast. #### What's New In?

MagazinelikeSUITE is a two-part program, which can be optionally used together. Both the main and secondary programs can be installed, and this is done from the MagazinelikeSUITE.exe file. The first, and main element of the skin is the skinsheet, which is indicated by the small menu on the lower-right-hand corner of the software application. Here, the appearance of each element can be adjusted. Once Skin-time is activated, the user will be transferred to the configuration area, and from here, options can be enabled or disabled. As previously mentioned, there are more than two hundred customizations available. CoverStory provides access to a highly customizable solution. Although this is done through custom pictures, and the shortcuts, a basic appearance can be changed through skin-specific settings. The parameters page allows the user to be in control of the elements that are turned on, and off. Setting it to Start-up brings up some default skins, while disabling them changes the appearance of the desktop. KIES-global.ini Scripting where the default installed components is full access. Although advanced setup can still be done, it is recommended that a trained set of eyes are used, to enable advanced options.

Performance.ini Exports groups of customizations to a file, which can then be imported into the scripting script. A second way to achieve this is by copying the entire file, and placing it in the same folder that contains the updated control panel.

MagazinelikeSUITE does not interfere with any of the main Windows components, which makes it a convenient package. An execution time of about two minutes can be expected, where the speed has to be set up, along with the size of the skin itself, which can be altered through skin-specific settings.

MagazinelikeSUITE can be downloaded via the official site. MagazinelikeSUITE
