If you are experiencing issues installing the "Unofficial Guide to Windows 10" (UGW10), I have come up with a solution. Unzip the files and follow these steps: 1. Navigate to the directory where you unzipped the files. 2. Open up "Win10-UGW10.exe" (64-bit version of the UGW10 should work for you) 3. Click the "License Agreement" button 4. Click the "I Agree" button 5. You may then initiate the installation. Note: The UGW10 will automatically uninstall the original setup utility. This utility is no longer required after the installation is complete. Using the Express Gate may help a user avoid having to go through the hassle of configuring

Windows 10. Many users are familiar with using the Express Gate option when using Windows 8 or 7 to connect to the Internet. The software is a paid solution, but it is very easy to use and not terribly expensive. Express Gate Windows 10 screenshots At the bottom of the Express Gate website you will find screenshots of the interface. Clicking on the settings icon will bring up this configuration screen. Users can select the router name, the DNS servers, the port for DNS query, the type of IPV4 protocol to use and whether the user wants to run the firewall itself or not. From this list, users can set the default or connect to other servers. Users can also review the network statistics, which offer information such as the number of IP addresses, protocols and their connections. In addition to the various network settings, Express Gate also allows users to set up a messenger, a mail account and a blog. The software is easy to use, but it doesn't come without some drawbacks. While Express Gate is a paid utility, it does not include a trial version. Also, the Express Gate website doesn't reveal much in terms of the business model it uses, and the name of the company that owns the software isn't given. While Express Gate might be an optional solution for Windows 10 users, there are other paid Windows 10 utilities that users can choose from. There is also a paid Windows 10 guide that is available on the Express Gate website, which can be useful to users. The Windows 10 Upgrade Assistant software will help users prepare for the Windows 10 upgrade. To Ischaemic retinopathy in optic neuropathies. On the basis of clinical observations, we have endeavoured to identify the topographical and quantitative pattern of retinal atrophy in ischaemic optic neuropathies. Ischaemic retinal atrophy of many types occurs in ischaemic optic neuropathies but may appear to be the only or the most prominent feature in others. The most frequent type of atrophy in ischaemic optic neuropathies is peripheral and occurs in conjunction with severe optic disc pallor. This atrophy appears to originate from selective, chronic ischaemia of the middle and posterior retina. Atrophy is manifest as distinct atrophy of the macula or sometimes as diffuse atrophy of the retina. The amount of atrophy may vary with time, but a few eyes show fixation dystrophy with accompanying atrophy. The retina is largely preserved in selected optic nerve diseases. As Internet files become more and more abundant, an information overload has begun to grip the web-surfing public. Unfortunately, many of the sites you visit every day promote and sell “popular” and “trending” topics, moving items that end up with no lasting impact. And because of the way algorithms work, they’re far more prone to changing their content to attract more hits. These issues can affect not only how you consume media but also what you actually get to see, prompting a conversation on the kind of information consumers should be allowed to access while limiting the data industries can collect. To address this problem, r/search, a popular subreddit on Reddit, announced a new initiative: the r/searchmod. Under this new rule, the subreddit has agreed to only assign upvotes to communities that publicly discuss the removal of data collection by some of the biggest companies, including Google and Facebook. So far, this has happened only in the context of Google and Facebook's targeted advertising business model, but the idea behind the subreddit —that ending these practices will make r/search a better place to browse and search —still applies. If you want to read up on this, you can read r/search's announcement here. After all of the recent news about its "healthier" approach, YouTube is now introducing a filter on videos
