FIFA (or FIFA Soccer) is one of the world's favourite sports games and EA SPORTS FIFA 22 is the first FIFA title in 10 years to feature Real Madrid, England's national side and many other teams and leagues. FIFA Football enjoys an incredibly dedicated fan base and EA SPORTS FIFA 22 will deliver all the action and drama of the popular sports game. Will Real Madrid Play Anywhere? Finally, FIFA as a game now allows Real Madrid players to play online on virtually all platforms and on all day, every day. EA SPORTS FIFA 22 will feature the most requested addition to the game in years; functionality that allows you to play with the team of your choice, wherever and whenever you like. There has been an enormous amount of work and development put into this launch and you won't believe how much good it'll do for our fans. How did EA get the rights to use the team and players? EA Sports FIFA Football has been the official game of FIFA for many years and as a result EA Sports owns the rights to the team and the players. It was for this reason that there was not enough time to launch FIFA Football 2015 which, ultimately, became FIFA 16. As a result, the rights and licensing process was immediately put into motion after the successful releases of FIFA 15 and Madden NFL 16 in the UK and USA. The development team led by our partners at EA Worldwide Marketing and Communications made sure that FIFA Football 2016 was the game that real fans had been waiting for and the results are now in. Why did the licence fall through with FIFA 15? It was FIFA 16, not FIFA Football, that ultimately fell through. FIFA 16 released in 2014 but, unfortunately, we were unable to get the licences we needed to include the squads of the 20 UEFA teams as it was becoming too hard to achieve approval for each individual licence. How much time went into bringing the licensing process together for FIFA 2017? The licensing process for FIFA 17 was started in December 2015, with the first year of FIFA as a game licence passing this past April. We had a lot of teams to chase down and, as you can see by the licensing numbers of the clubs below, our efforts have paid off and we're happy to be able to deliver a game that fans want. 50: Licences to include in FIFA 17 Club Country FIFA 18 FIFA 2017 Goal Score
