The present invention relates to a pump body. The present invention also relates to a plastic injection molding machine for making a plastic product. The present invention further relates to a method for making a plastic product. A pump body has a shape corresponding to a desired shape of a plastic product. The pump body is made by an injection molding machine and is supplied in the shape of a sheet or a roll. The pump body is attached to a nozzle for supplying the plastic product. In the process for making the plastic product, the plastic product is extruded out from the nozzle and delivered into a cavity of the injection molding machine. The cavity of the injection molding machine is shaped according to a desired shape of the plastic product. Because of the need for higher operational reliability in a plastic injection molding machine, the injection molding machine can have a plurality of nozzles for discharging a large amount of a plastic product at a time. A rotary feed plate, which is a large and heavy component, is moved to mount a plurality of nozzles on the rotary feed plate. The nozzles discharging the plastic product are mounted on the rotary feed plate. The rotary feed plate, which is a large and heavy component, is moved up and down to separate a lead screw from the lead screw. The lead screw holds a screw block in the mold for defining a molding region. The mold having a plurality of cavities that is to receive a plastic product is separated by a cutter assembly from the molding region defined by the screw block. The cutter assembly cuts molding material that protrudes from the molding region. The rotary feed plate is raised while a cavity in the mold is opened. The nozzle is disposed to extend into the cavity. The nozzle is connected to the lead screw through an actuating mechanism in the nozzle. To open a mold cavity of the injection molding machine, the lead screw needs to be removed from the cavity. This means that the lead screw needs to be disengaged from the nozzle. To remove the lead screw from the nozzle, the actuating mechanism must be opened. When the actuating mechanism is opened, the nozzle, which is connected to the lead screw, can be separated from the lead screw. The cut molding material that protrudes from the molding region is removed by a receiving port of the receiving plate. atynec v. Estate of Eggers, 20 Cal.App.4th 609, 625, 24 Cal. Rptr.2d 404, 414 (1993). But in that case, the creditor acted in bad faith by participating in an illegal betting scheme, and the court left open the question of whether the bad faith exception would apply even if the lender acted in good faith. Id. The court expressed doubt that the exception would be applicable in these circumstances. Id. We do not decide whether the "bad faith" exception to section 580d would apply in this case because we affirm the trial court's grant of summary judgment on the ground that Green does not have standing to challenge the assignment of the Construction Loan. 18 AFFIRMED. Sav. & Loan Ass'n, 24 Cal.App.3d 389, 394, 101 Cal.Rptr. 260 (1972). 2 We recently discussed section 580d in detail in Redwood Empire Savings & Loan Ass'n v. Superior Court, 139 F.3d 663, 670-72 (9th Cir.1998), and believe that it would be inappropriate to repeat that discussion here. We note, however, that the factual situation in that case differed significantly from this one. In Redwood, the lender acquired a loan from the federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation (S & L), received a loan guaranty from the California Department of Corporations (CDC), and subsequently sold the loan to a third party before any default occurred. Id. at 670. The CDC, aware of the pending sale, expressed its concern that the transaction might be in violation of federal law. The CDC suggested an informal resolution of the matter in which the loan guarantor would permit the sale while requiring that the new loan provider assign the S & L guaranty to CDC. Id. While CDC was meeting with the new loan provider, however, the S & L was declared insolvent and transferred its assets to the CDC. Id. at 671. The lender, unaware that the CDC had no authority to regulate the insurance industry,
